BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORY NOTE

George Byron Sage was a story analyst at Twentieth Century-Fox film studios from the early 1940s to the early 1970s. Born in Parsons, Kansas, on July 31, 1915, Sage was a child Vaudeville performer credited as “Byron Sage” and made his feature film debut in Warner Bros.’s silent picture CONDUCTOR 1492 (1924). However, his film-acting career ended in 1930 after making six films. Sage died on July 14, 1974, in Los Angeles, California, at age fifty-eight.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The collection contains 3,807 story synopses of literary works that were submitted to Twentieth Century-Fox by authors, agents and filmmakers for production consideration. Sage wrote summaries, analyses and comments about the submissions, which included published and unpublished short stories, plays, novels, outlines, radio programs, radio scripts, theatrical reviews, nonfiction books, treatments, screenplays, autobiographies, biographies, novelettes, story ideas, musicals, booklets, articles, television scripts, foreign films, travel books, and comic books.

Prominent individuals or film submissions include: ALL THAT HEAVEN ALLOWS, AMERICAN GRAFFITI, Brian De Palma, BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID, CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG, Dalton Trumbo, Daniel Taradash, Dory Previn, Edward Anhalt, Francis Ford Coppola, Frank Pierson, George Seaton, Gore Vidal, Groucho Marx, Hal Barwood, Jack Cardiff, JAWS, Joseph Heller, MASH, Matthew Robbins, NAPOLEON, Nicholas Ray, Nunnally Johnson, Orson Welles, Peter Beagle, Peter Benchley, Peter Hyams, Ray Bradbury, René Clément, REVOLUTIONARY ROAD, Richard Levinson, Richard Overstreet, Richard Rush, Robert Aldrich, Robert Towne, Roman Polanski, Sam Peckinpah, Stanley Kubrick, Sy Bartlett, Tennessee Williams, THE STUNT MAN, Thorne Smith, Tom Rickman, TWO FOR THE ROAD, W. R. Burnett, WEST SIDE STORY, William Goldman, and William Link.

The collection also includes documents describing criteria for story synopses and the work of story analysts in the film industry.
